

Meet Natalie M. Kustner!

Natalie is a RN-BSN student at the University of Wisconsin and when she is not in class or at clinicals, she is spending her time leading info sessions and mentoring pre-nursing students as a Student Ambassador for the School of Nursing or organizing community events for the first-year students in the Bradley Learning Community; or in a meeting with her research mentors to discuss the next step in her studies on health communication. Her driven attitude and dedicated passion stood out to us and we are overjoyed to read about Natalie and her peer's experience and overwhelming care for their patients.
